

What happens when a child's family welcomes a teacher in their home?

Families are the experts on their children. Teachers are the experts on the classroom. Parent Teacher Home Visits are voluntary appointments designed to build a relationship between equal partners, so that the most important adults in a child's life, at home and at school, can work together to support the child's learning and growth.

Everyone plays on the same team to help their student succeed!

"On the visit, the teacher asked me, and I'll never forget this, she said "What are your hopes and dreams for your child." And I knew that if anybody was going to come into my home, in a nonjudgmental way, and ask me that question, that they really cared. After my first home visit, we worked together to help my daughter and she was reading at grade level by the end of the year. "

— April Ybarra, Parent, Oak Ridge Elementary