

Educators and families on the same team for student success!

Parent Teacher Home Visits are an effective PreK-12 strategy to

- increase students' academic and developmental growth
- build capacity in teachers and families
- improve school climate, attendance and test scores
- increase cultural competence and connection
- and build community support for public education.

All this begins with training school teachers and staff to make meaningful relationships with the families of their students, starting with a voluntary home visit.

Parent/Teacher Home Visits are proven, cost-effective, and replicable in a variety of settings. Through organic growth and word of mouth, our relational model of home visits are transforming public schools in rural, suburban and inner city communities across the US.

For more about how we do this, and the research behind it, please see our website at www.pthvp.org. Follow us: Twitter @pthvp, Facebook/pthvp. Carrie Rose, Executive Director, 916-752-3206 or carrie@pthvp.org, would be happy to answer your questions and explore how home visits could make a difference in your community.

